

SPEAKER:

11th Asia Telemedicine Symposium, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

RAFIQUL ISLAM, Ph.D.
Associate Professor, Medical Information Center
Kyushu University, Japan

Presentation Title: GramHealth: An Integrated Tele-Healthcare System for Unreached Communities

Short Autobiography:

Dr. Rafiqul Islam is working as an Associate Professor at Medical Information Center of Kyushu University Hospital under Kyushu University, Japan. Before joining here in this October, he has been working as a Director (Operations) of Global Communication Center, the ICT based R&D wing of Grameen Communications, Bangladesh. Earlier Dr. Islam worked in Japanese IT industries for 12 years after completing his Ph.D. in Information Engineering in 1993 from Hokkaido University, Japan.

Dr. Islam has been associated with various Internet standardization organizations, government bodies and business communities. He has attended many International Conference, Seminars and events of ICT around the world and spoke on ICT for development. His interest covers in the areas including ICT for agriculture, education, environment, information and healthcare.