

Yasuaki Antoku

Associate Professor, Oita University Hospital, Japan.

He majored in Information Engineering for his bachelor's degree, and in design engineering for doctor's degree.

His specialty is computer networks, information security, medical informatics. He worked at Kyushu University until last year, and moved to Oita University in this April. He is one of the founding members of TEMDEC, he was in charge of system construction.